NOW IS THE TIME TO TALK - WHY CULTURE AND VALUES ARE THE KEY TO THE FUTURE

A mainstay of Tilney has been our Now is the Time to Talk series and we are thrilled to be joined by Educational Entrepreneur, Jen Munro, International Speaker, Founder & Managing Director of The International Summer School Of Scotland (ISSOS) for the next in the series. Jen is an award-winning entrepreneur and popular international speaker having delivered talks for Tedx and to the UN. She established a successful business helping bring head and heart together for the next generation. Jen will shine a light on why culture and values are key for the next generation and share her insight into the family and help us to build out the Great Intergenerational Transfer.

Advance registration is required using the links below and please feel free to pass this invitation on to your family, friends or colleagues who might find this webinar of interest.

Each 45 minute session will be interactive and there will be the opportunity for live Q&A.
